FIRST CALL TO DIXON GOODFEL- LOWS IS ISSUED

Annual Campaign in Be- half of Needy Young- sters is Started

Calling all Goodfellows!
Christmas time is near at hand again and, as for many years past, an important part of Christmas time in Dixon is the Goodfellow campaign to bring a happy Christmas to all of the children of this community.

Except for the generosity of the Goodfellows there would be each year several hundred little boys and girls who would watch and wait all Christmas day for a Santa Claus who would never come. The Evening Telegraph will again conduct its annual Goodfellow campaign to give an opportunity to the Goodfellows of the city and community to bring about to bring Christmas joy to little folks who would otherwise be disappointed.

One Goodfellow who is always an early contributor to the Goodfellow fund "jumped the gun" again this year and already has his contribution in the Goodfellow treasury. Sam Bacharach, popular Dixonite, brought in his check for $10 on Friday. This $10 worth of Christmas joy for some of Dixon's poor little folks is in memory of the late Mrs. Fannie Bacharach.

Want Names of Youngsters
The Goodfellow Club wants the names, sex, and addresses, together with the names of the parents or guardians, of every boy and girl in Dixon 12 years old or younger, who will be unable to enjoy a happy Christmas without Goodfellow help. All names, addresses, etc., should be written or printed plainly and mailed to or left at the Evening Telegraph office, care of the Goodfellow Club.

Call For Goodfellows
To be a Goodfellow Club member you must contribute in some way. Either in cash from one penny up or by taking the name of one or more children from the Goodfellow list and providing them with a nice Christmas. Cash donated to the Goodfellow fund will be used by the Goodfellow Club to buy the articles needed to provide the happy Christmas times for the youngsters. There is no overhead expense. No salaries and no money spent for anything except the actual articles that will be delivered to the boys and girls on the list. Every penny donated will find its way, in the shape of candy, fruits, playthings, clothing, etc., into the homes where it is needed.

The homes of all children who will be the recipients of Goodfellow generosity will be made a subject of investigation and every effort will be made to avoid duplication and to bring Christmas cheer where it is really needed.

The organization of this city-wide movement means a great deal of detail work and the greater efficiency is permitted if the Goodfellow Club can have the names of those children who will need help at the earliest possible date. And for the same reason it is important that Goodfellow donations be sent in as early as possible so that the Goodfellow club will know how far the fund can be spread to benefit the greatest number of youngsters.

ay Movies Hampered By Legion of Decency

St. Louis, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Ernest Bernbaum, professor of English at the University of Illinois, charged today the development of motion pictures into one of "the greatest and most influential arts of all time" is hampered by the Legion of Decency and similar organizations.

Bernbaum, speaking before the National Council of Teachers of English in convention here, declared motion pictures should have "absolute freedom from any political, conventional or supposedly moral restrictions except the obligation to eternal truth."

"If you rule out everything debatable, you get the kind of picture which the late Percy Hammond described by saying 'I went into the theater a full grown adult and came out sucking my thumb.'" Bernbaum added.

Expect Contest For GOP Leadership in Congress
Washington, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Prospects of a spirited contest for the house Republican leadership increased today with the announcement by Representative James W. Wadsworth of Genesee, N. Y., that he was a candidate for the post.

Would Live Again

Fond du Lac, Wis., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Charles Johnson, formerly of Fond du Lac and now of St. Louis, wants the county court to void proceedings by which he was declared legally dead two years ago.

Charles and his brother, Frank left Fond du Lac in 1917 and eventually drifted apart, County Judge L. E. Lurvey was informed.

Their mother, Mrs. Christian F. Johnson, died here in 1933, and in 1936, when Frank testified he had not seen his brother for seven years, Charles was declared dead to settle the estate.

When Frank Johnson died in St. Louis last spring, his brother, who had been a news vendor, appeared at the funeral.

Judge Lurvey reserved his decision but indicated he would void the previous action.

PROGRESS MADE IN CHECKING FIRES IN SOUTH CALIFORNIA

Los Angeles, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Shifting, capricious winds, which for three days alternately have fanned, then almost halted the spread of southern California's two disastrous forest and brush blazes, appeared today to be aiding fatigued fire-fighters in the Santa Monica and San Bernardino mountains.

Neither conflagration was under control, but officials who late yesterday feared additional millions of dollars damage was inevitable took encouragement from reports of progress in several areas.

The most dangerous point apparently was in upper Mandeville canyon, in the Santa Monica mountains west of Los Angeles. Ralph J. Scott, city fire chief, ordered concentration of 8090 men along a six-mile front to keep the blaze from breaking across Mulholland highway and into the fertile San Fernando valley.

Lower in the same canyon are numerous expensive homes, but Scott said none was in immediate danger. Three firemen, burned when a blaze trapped them and a truck in nearby rustic canyon, returned to the lines after emergency treatment.

Only spot fires remained nearer the seacoast in Topanga and Las Flores canyons, swept during the first day, and county foresters said they were being brought rapidly under control.

The sheriff's office announced, after a survey, that 80 residences in the two canyons and adjacent areas of Las Tunas and Big Rock were destroyed, with a property loss approximating $150,000.

Papa Dionne Says Quints Will Not Go to Fair

Toronto, Nov. 26.—(Canadian Press)—Olivia Dionne, commenting on a report his quintuplet daughters may appear at the New York World Fair next year, said today that "under no circumstances will the five girls be removed from northern Ontario."

Previously World Fair officials in New York said the way had been cleared for exhibition of the children, and that the parents had given informal permission.

Two Killed by Train on Chicago's South Side

Chicago, Nov. 26.—(AP)—A man and a woman were killed today by a fast Grand Trunk train which struck their automobile at a South side crossing. From papers in his pocket, the man was identified as John K. A. Jensen, a Chicago policeman.

Investigators learned that he was seen leaving his home with his wife, Helen.

City Commissioners Seek Preservation of Banks of River for Beauty and Park Areas

Discussion of the proposed zoning ordinance, which has been dominant for some weeks in the city council, took place both before and after the brief weekly session of the council last evening. Criticism was directed at some of the clauses in the proposed ordinance and it was decided that there should be some corrections before final passage, to which all of the members of the city commission agreed.

NAZI PAWNshops OPENED TO HELP JEWS PAY FINES

Will Take Over Jewelry, Art Works and Other Valuable Property

Berlin, Nov. 26.—(AP)—German nazis today opened a glorified pawn-brokerage business to help hard-pressed Jews raise funds to pay the $400,000,000 fine imposed for the assassination of Ernst Vom Rath.

The Berlin chamber of industry and commerce started a bureau on behalf of the economics ministry to take over jewelry, art works and other valuable objects from Jews throughout Germany.

The fine's first installment due December 15 is to be cash, principally. Many Jews have been assessed 20 per cent of their wealth as part of the fine and will have to liquidate much of their personal property to raise the money.

It was explained this central bureau was established to make it easier to convert their possessions into cash, after appraisal by experts.

Ostracization Measures

Measures to ostracize Jews continued to pile up.

Indigent Jews, for example, are not permitted under a new regulation issued by the interior ministry to seek aid from public welfare bureaus but must turn to Jewish welfare agencies.

All Jewish student loans were cancelled and repayment ordered within two weeks.

Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goerring, acting in his capacity as the Reich's master of the hunt, ordered the cancellation of all hunting licenses held by Jews on the basis of a law which takes away such rights from persons "who endanger the public safety."

New regulations yesterday provided that Jews be dropped from the roster of registered handicraftsmen and that stocks of Jewish retail shops, which are to be liquidated before January 1, be handed over to various governmental trade department or public receivers in bankruptcy.

WILSON CONSULTANT

Washington, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Acting Secretary Welles of the state department said today Hugh Wilson, who arrived today from his post as ambassador to Berlin, would be assigned to the state department for an indefinite period.

Welles said Wilson would take up duty as a consultant as soon as he returns from a conference during the week-end, with President Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Ga.

Welles said Wilson's duties would be to advise state department officials on German affairs. Although no further information was given, it was indicated this action might be preliminary to Wilson's permanent transfer from his Berlin post.

Indications at the state department are that the decision whether he shall return to Germany has not yet been made and probably will not be made for several weeks.

It is probable that the German

Persistency

Chicago, Nov. 26.—(AP)—You probably can't tie the persistence of two burglars who police chased from a loop shop three weeks ago just after they had sawed through the window bars.

Miss Shirley Silverman, 23, the owner, replaced the bars with stronger ones. Last night the thieves—she thinks the same ones—sawed off the new bars, took 600 dozen neckties and all equipment movable except the showcases.

TRANSIENT VISITS CITY; RESIDING A FEW DAYS AT JAIL

Alexander Maxwell, 63, a native of Edinburgh, Scotland, who claims to have been finger-printed a thousand times by American police, escaped that experience in Dixon last night, but was added to the list of city guests at the county jail for a few days. Maxwell applied for lodging at the city hall last evening together with several other transients, and was accommodated. He walked out of the jail section shortly afterward and later the police were called to First street and Hennepin avenue, where they found Maxwell in a jubilant state. Returned to the station he was locked up, but before his arrest was reported to have swallowed the contents of a bottle of witch hazel.

He suffered no ill effects from the shaving lotion and this morning was committed to the county jail for two days to recover from the nervous condition.

Daniel Palmer, Negro of Chicago, was sent to the county jail when he failed to provide the required fine of $10 and costs on a vagrancy charge. Palmer was reported to have smuggled a bottle of liquor into the city jail last evening when he asked for a night's lodging and was accommodated, and later engaged in a quarrel with other transients. He attempted to explain to the police that the liquor was used to bathe his feet, but the excuse was not sufficient and he is confined in the county jail.

Two Sterling Men In- jured in Wreck Today

Dennis Mills and Henry Bailey of Sterling were thrown through the windshield of an automobile this morning at 1:30, and their faces terribly mutilated. The two young men were returning to Sterling and about five miles west of Dixon on the Lincoln Highway, just west of the Hill Den farm, the machine skidded on the snow covered paving.

The car left the paving, crashing into a guard rail fence at a curve and quite a section of the fence was torn down, before the machine came to a stop. Both men were thrown headfirst through the heavy windshield. Another car stopped at the scene of the accident and brought the Sterling men to the Katherine Shaw Betha hospital. They were not believed to have suffered any broken bones and their injuries consisted almost entirely of deep lacerations about the face and head. Their car which was practically demolished was removed from the scene after State Officer Edward Mahan had conducted an investigation.

WINTER WEATHER CLAIMS LIVES OF 84 IN THE NATION

Fresh Snow Covers Most of the Middle West Today

(By The Associated Press)
Clearing skies and slowly-rising temperatures today speeded the task of mopping up after the nation's worst November storm in years—a tempest of wind and snow that claimed at least 84 lives.

Frigid weather prevailed generally, however, from the east coast to the Rocky Mountains. Snow-packed roads remained a menace to weekend travelers, particularly in rural areas.

Airplanes and trains moved again on schedule. Bus transportation was still slowed somewhat by snow drifts in the east, but main highways in all states were open. Communications networks suffered relatively minor damage. Traffic accidents on ice-glazed streets and deaths due to over-exertion added to the toll.

Number of Dead

The storm caused 25 deaths in New York, 14 upstate and 11 in the metropolitan area. New England counted 22 dead, New Jersey 12, Pennsylvania seven, the south five, Ohio four, Maryland three, Michigan and Indiana two each and Nebraska and Missouri one each.

Hundreds of automobiles remained stalled in the blizzard area, stretching roughly from New England to Alabama and as far west as the Great Lakes.

In New York City, streets blanketed by the heaviest November snowfall in 40 years were swept clean by a force of 40,000 laborers.

A fierce gale struck Nova Scotia last night, cutting off from outside communication the western half of the province and imperiling shipping. Vessels remained in port rather than face heavy seas.

COLD IS FORECAST

Chicago, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Fresh snow covered most of the Middle West today, and the weather bureau forecast a brief siege of cold.

There was new, light snow in Wisconsin and Indiana, with colder weather forecast for both states and more snow in Indiana. Snow flurries swept into Illinois and Eastern Iowa. Chicago had its first snow of the season, about one-tenth of an inch.

Temperatures in Wisconsin ranged from eight to 26 above. It was slightly warmer in Illinois. Indiana reported overnight temperatures ranging from 24 to 28 degrees above zero.

The cold wave, Forecaster C. A. Donnel said, was approaching from the west and would last from 12 to 24 hours.

Bishops Plan to Unite Methodist Groups

Chicago, Nov. 26.—(AP)—A call for the first joint meeting of the bishops of the Methodist churches now engaged in unification plans was issued today.

A three-day meeting will be held in Nashville, Tenn., November 29, 30 and December 1 to discuss preliminary merger plans of three Methodist bodies into a single communion, to be known as the Methodist church. Representatives of the Methodist Episcopal church, the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and the Methodist Protestant church will represent 9,000 members of their organizations at the meeting.

Young Ideas

Oklahoma City, Nov. 26.—(AP)—W. L. Young, 84, has young ideas—he's planning matrimony.

Young applied for a license to wed a 72-year-old neighbor "if she'll have me."

"She hasn't exactly said she would yet," he added cautiously.

Gypsy Rose Lee Willing to "Bare Everything" for Two Members Dies Committee

Cleveland, Nov. 26.—(AP)—An exploratory wing of the Dies congressional committee resumed an investigation of affairs educational today after Gypsy Rose Lee of the "strip-tease" conditionally accepted an invitation to testify about Hollywood.

"I'll bare everything—if the committee will come to Columbus", roughly remarked Miss Lee at the state capital, where she is appearing at a theatre.

Rep. Harold Mosier (D-Ohio), member of the committee investigating un-American activities, had asked the actress by telephone to come to Cleveland by plane for an interview concerning a movie capital campaign for funds for the Spanish government forces.

"I can't go—I got four shows a day here," Miss Lee commented. "I got a whole company depend-

Santa Stranded

Steubenville, Ohio, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Steubenville children hope Santa Claus doesn't have as much trouble getting around Dec. 25 as he had here Nov. 25.

Starting a Christmas parade with his reindeer and sleigh, Santa soon had to get out and hold up the deer, which couldn't keep their footing on the icy street.

Then the reindeer fell and one broke a leg.

The parade passed on, leaving Santa stranded.

He tried to catch up by running, but he was too fat. Out of breath, he "thumbed" the first vehicle that came along.

Throughout the rest of the parade Santa perched cheerfully on the running board of a National Guard ambulance.

NEWSMAN WILL NOT TELL SOURCE OF HIS DATA ON HOPKINS

Washington, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Arthur Krock, New York Times Washington correspondent, declined today to disclose the source of his information that Harry Hopkins, the Works Progress Administrator, once told a friend: "We will spend and spend, tax and tax, elect and elect."

Hopkins, who previously had denied making the remark, wrote the Times yesterday asking it to identify the source. He asked if the public did not have a "right" to know "who started this unfounded story?"

In reply, Krock said he had "verified substantially the quotation—and he believes that it was seriously uttered—before making any use of it." He said, too, that it had been published by some other papers as long ago as September 25 and not denied.

Krock's statement concluded: "The friend who quoted Mr. Hopkins as substantially repeated is of excellent repute and not at all hard of hearing. He is at liberty to reveal himself if he so desires. I learned his identity in confidence—unless I am released—I shall maintain."

Adjourn Negotiations to Settle Strike at Chicago Stockyards

Chicago, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Representatives of the C. I. O. conferred for two hours today with officers of the Union Stockyard & Transit Company in an effort to end the strike which has suspended operations in the Chicago stockyards for five days.

At the conclusion of the conference, Don Harris, regional chairman of the packing house workers organizing committee, said negotiations had been adjourned until 1:30 P. M. Monday.

He declined to say whether an agreement had been reached with the company to forestall operation of the huge yards by an A. F. of L. local of livestock handlers, which has offered to send in a crew at 6 A. M. Monday.

Company officials still were in conference with Robert J. Mythen and W. H. Rodgers, conciliators of the federal department of labor.

Sentence Daughter Who Admitted Killing Father

Washington, Pa., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Irene Grice, 12, who said she shot her father because he abused her and her mother, was sentenced to the Pennsylvania training school at Morgantown today.

Irene, who calmly admitted slaying her father, Steve, with a .22 rifle as he sat at the breakfast table in their home at Centerville, August 25, displayed no emotion as Judge Carl E. Gibson imposed the indeterminate sentence in juvenile court.

The case was certified to the juvenile court by District Attorney James C. Bane after a grand jury indicted her for voluntary manslaughter.

Irene testified she shot at tin cans to sharpen her aim and was not sorry for what she had done.

POPE PIUS MORE OR LESS NORMAL DOCTOR REPORTS

Passed Restful Night; Improvement Continued During Day

Vatican City, Nov. 26.—(AP)—An official communique said today that Pope Pius XI had "returned to a more or less normal condition" after a heart attack which had caused grave concern.

"The Holy Father passed a calm night, resting without any disturbance. The improvement, which was noted yesterday evening continued, happily, so that this morning His Holiness has returned to a more or less normal condition."

Vatican sources said the 81-year-old Pontiff, although still weak, was able to get up from his bed and receive Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state.

He first received Cardinal Pacelli in his bedroom, sitting in an armchair which made breathing easier. He then had himself carried in the chair from his bedroom to the library on a lower floor of the palace, where he continued his conversation with the secretary of state.

Rest is Advised

The communique said the Pope's chief physician, Dr. Amintore Milani, "taking into consideration the state of weakness resulting from yesterday's attack, advised several days of rest before the august Pontiff should resume his customary rhythm of life."

"Therefore," it added, "His Holiness limited himself this morning to receiving only the Cardinal secretary of state."

Cardinal Pacelli's visit was for the purpose of getting authorization to receive a group of newlyweds and a Hungarian pilgrimage to which the Pope was to have granted an audience.

Monseigneur Carlo Confalonieri celebrated mass this morning in a room near the bedroom of the Pontiff, who listened to the mass and took communion.

Later Father Gemelli, a friend of the Pope, and Count Franco Ratti, the Holy Father's nephew, arrived at the Vatican.

Brought Reassurance

The communique brought reassurance to the thousands who had been concerned over the Pope's condition yesterday and last night. Many had feared that his advanced age and weakened condition might make it difficult for him to recover.

Lorenzo Cardinal Lauri, chief penitentiary of the church, gave the Pope absolution yesterday when those close to the Holy Father virtually despaired of his survival.

One of the few persons admitted to the Pope's apartment said, however, that extreme unction—the last rite of the Roman Catholic church—had not been administered.

Thousands of Roman faithful arose at dawn to pray for the Pope's recovery.

DOUBLE SWITCH OPERATES NEW BEDROOM LAMP

NIGHT LIGHT.
When you modernize your house be sure to look to the electric outlets.

One unique feature is a new night lamp arrangement directly above the baseboard and under the bedside table. This is simply an electric outlet placed flush with the wall surface in which a lamp of small wattage is placed. There should be switches on either side of the night table, close to each bed to control this night lamp. This arrangement makes it possible for the occupant of either bed, on rising at night, to turn on the light illuminating the floor yet not disturbing the occupant of the other bed—and it is more comfortable from the standpoint of eyestrain resulting from flooding a darkened room with light.

COOK OPENS STORE FOR YULE SEASON

Harold C. Cook today opened a Christmas Decoration store at 109 Galena avenue. The shop will be open for the duration of the Christmas shopping season.

Mr. Cook's shop will have as wares Christmas trees, wreaths of all colors and sizes, gourd table-decorations, mantle swags, birch bark baskets, etc. The storeroom is decorated in a domestic fashion so that the shopper may see how the various decorations will look in the home.

The shop has an attractive antique motif that is sure to cause considerable comment. All furniture used is of Early American style. It is owned by J. Crawford of Dixon. Included among the antique items is a clock, tables, chairs, mantle-place, benches, etc. Of unusual interest, is a pair of brass andirons that date back at least 150 years.

GOOD PAINTING IS ECONOMICAL

Home Needs Two Coats Once Every Four Years

When you let your painting contract, or if you buy the paint yourself, be sure to explain to your painter or your dealer just how good a job you wish. Most painters and dealers wish to see a good painting job done, but in paint, as every other commodity, there are several grades and you will get just what you pay for.

Don't forget that the material is the smallest end of the job. The labor cost will be just the same for good paint or poor. So I suggest you buy good paint—not the cheapest.

The exterior of a house requires a special kind of paint to withstand the elements; and porch floors and steps need a paint that will dry harder and stand up under rough usage.

Give your home at least two coats of paint every four years. This plan is better than giving the woodwork one coat every two years, as the paint will last longer and give more protection to the wood.

And don't forget the interior floors. They should be given a coat of wax at least twice a year to keep them beautiful.

Try painting and decorating for reconditioning your home. It will give a cheerful, new outlook. The old house will take on a new lease of life and can stand more proudly among its neighbors.

HERE IS WAY TO BEAUTIFY BACK YARD

More leisure time has helped many people to rediscover home and find out that it is really not just a place to eat, sleep, grab your hat and be on your way.

The back yard of many a home has long been neglected and now may be greatly improved and arranged to become a most delightful play yard for young and old.

Illustrating this article is a plan showing how such a back yard may be laid out. The numbers identify the improvements.

Number one is a fine concrete driveway. . . . No. 2 a flagstone walk which may be made of concrete also. . . . No. 3 is a garden terrace where chairs and swings may be placed. . . . No. 9 is a sand box much appreciated by the very young children; a play house adjoins it and is approached by a walk from No. 10 which is a lily or wading pool.

Concrete is an ideal material for most of these improvements for it is permanent, clean, easy to suit the taste of the owner. Of course there is no upkeep.

Annual DeMolay Dance Is Festive Occasion

Approximately Four Hundred Guests Turn Out for Yearly Thanksgiving Dance

Highlight of the Thanksgiving season's festivities was the tenth annual Thanksgiving dance at which Dixon DeMolays were hosting last evening in Brinton Memorial Masonic temple. Nearly 400 guests, including college students home for the holiday recess, and visitors from Sterling, Morrison, and other nearby chapters of the order, turned out for the affair.

Stan Stanley's orchestra was playing the latest tunes for dancing from 9 o'clock on. The orchestra platform was banked with oak boughs and evergreen, and at either side was a huge plaque of the shield-shaped insignia of the order. Overhead, crepe paper streamers were festooned in drop ceiling effect, with blue and gold, the DeMolay colors, dominating the scene. A colored spotlight shone down from each corner of the room.

Heading the grand march, which followed intermission were Harold Cook, the chapter supervisor, and Miss Jean Hemmen, who was wearing a black taffeta formal with gold trim, followed by the chapter officers. The master counselor, Floyd I. Smith, Jr., was escorting Miss Nancy Richards, who chose blue velvet with a gold zipper and white lace collar; Miss Betty Allen, wearing an aqua blue taffeta formal, was with the senior counselor, Bruce Palmer; and Miss Elizabeth Davies, in pink satin, was with Bob Hoffman, the junior counselor. Members of the host chapter were wearing their new gold medallions for the first time.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd I. Smith, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Palmer, and Harold Cook were patrons and patronesses for the occasion. Committees, whose smooth-running plans were responsible for the evening's success, included:

FIND FOSSILS

When Herbert Auman and his Thanksgiving guest, Auriel Cross of Waterloo, Ia., return to their geology classes at Cedar Rapids, Ia., after the holiday recess, they will have some interesting fossils to show their classmates. Yesterday Herbert, Auriel, and the former's mother and sister, Mrs. Earl Auman and daughter Jewel, motored to Chicago, and the Coe students spent part of the day searching for specimens at a mine southwest of the city.

Herbert and Auriel left this morning for Cedar Rapids. Herbert's twin brother, Hubert, also a Coe student, returned to the campus Thursday evening, and Miss Auman will be leaving Sunday for Cambria, Ia., to resume her teaching.

Tall white tapers in four candleabra lighted the altar for this ceremony. While the guests were assembling, Mrs. Dora Wiles played a medley of love songs on the organ.

The bride, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Melberg, Sr. of Sterling, wore grape wine with black accessories.

Wedding Service Is Read at Farm Home Near Polo

White tapers lighted the country home of Mr. and Mrs. John Stuff, five miles southeast of Polo, this afternoon, when the couple's daughter, Vivian, exchanged nuptial vows with Emerson Poffenberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Poffenberger, also of near Polo, in an impressive double ring ceremony. The Rev. Sidney Bloomquist, pastor of the Polo Methodist church, read the rites at 2:30 o'clock.

Preceding the ceremony, Rae Rowland of Polo sang two numbers, "Trust in Me" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied on the piano by Miss Lois Typer. Miss Mary Masterson of Mt. Morris was at the piano for the traditional Lohengrin wedding march.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ford of Rockford attended the couple. The bride wore a white satin gown with a halo of orange blossoms, and carried pink roses. Mrs. Ford was attired in teal blue satin, and was carrying a Colonial bouquet.

Mrs. Stuff and the bridegroom's mother each wore shoulder bouquets of sweetpeas.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Stuff home for 25 guests. Afterward, Mr. Poffenberger and his bride left on a motor trip through the south.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Poffenberger were graduated from Polo Community high school. He was graduated in 1932, and she was a member of the class of '34. The bride is employed at the Kable News in Mt. Morris, and Mr. Poffenberger is engaged in farming his father's farm near Stratford, where the couple will reside.

SCHOOL SOCIAL IS SUCCESSFUL

Pupils of the Will school and their teacher, Miss Julia Brech-on, announce proceeds amounting to nearly $35 from the box social and program which they sponsored Wednesday evening at the school. The ladies brought boxes of lunch for two, which were auctioned by J. W. Court-right of South Dixon, with John Conroy and Michael Stahl acting as clerks. Approximately 165 guests turned out for the affair.

Paul Beard received the evening's guest prize, and Robert Potratz of Dixon was presented with a three-pound box of candy for making the highest bid. Among outstanding numbers on the program were an Irish skit by Mrs. Marie Malach and Mrs. Evelyn Kranou, and a humorous song by Dorothy Leffelman and Robert Tourtillott.

DINNER PARTY

Thanksgiving dinner for the H. F. Walder family has been postponed until tomorrow so that their daughter, Wanda, would not be disappointed. Miss Walder arrived in the city last evening from Mt. Vernon, Iowa, where she is attending Cornell college.

As the days grow more wintry, the list of travelers grows longer, with additional departures being reported almost daily.

Attorney and Mrs. Gerald Jones will soon be leaving northern snow scenes behind them, having planned to leave tomorrow on a two weeks' trip through the south. Accompanied by Mr. Jones' brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Jones of South Bend, Ind., the Dixons will be visiting New Orleans, San Antonio, and Old Mexico enroute to Los Angeles.

Another Dixon family, the L. G. Rorers and their three children, Leonard, Jr., Norma Jean, and Robert Lee, will also be heading south-ward soon. On Tuesday evening, they will board the Dixie Flier in Chicago, bound for Miami, Fla., where they will take a winter home and remain for several months, probably until May 1.

Florida is also the destination ahead of Dr. and Mrs. B. H. S. Angear and their daughter Evelyn, of Sublette, and Miss Carolyn Backman of Amboy. This four-some expects to be enroute south next Thursday for a month's stay in St. Petersburg and other points.

Miss Buck, who was graduated from the Franklin Grove high school, later attended La Verne college in La Verne, Calif., and has been teaching in the Chicago city schools for the past two years. She visited her parents during the summer vacation recess.

Her fiancé, whose home is in Wenatchee, Wash., also attended LaVerne college, and is now teaching at Lake Arrowhead, Calif. The wedding date has not been set.

Suggest Program of Catholics as Example For Other Religions

Cincinnati, Nov. 26—(AP)—The Catholic hierarchy's newly-announced program to educate 3,000,000 parochial students in "enlightened American citizenship" was suggested today by one of the prelates as an example by which other religions might unite "in concrete action against a common enemy, subversiveness."

The most Rev. John T. McNicholas, archbishop of Cincinnati, declared in an interview that world-wide protest against persecutions of "Jew and Gentile, Protestant and Catholics," may serve as an indication that essential differences between religious faiths are "of little moment in a common cause."

Predicting the new program would be put in operation in Catholic schools and universities when the next school year opens, Archbishop McNicholas termed it "to my knowledge the first definite step in a campaign which all Americans must undertake against Communism, Fascism and Bolshevism."

REJECTED SUITOR KILLS OBJECT OF HIS LOVE; HIMSELF

New York, Nov. 26—(AP)—An attractive young red-haired woman was shot and killed today on the seventh floor of the Grand Central Terminal building in the heart of the midtown section as she fled from a man described by police as a disappointed lover.

The man then shot himself through his right temple. He was dead when police arrived.

The woman was identified as Marion Wheeler, 32, of Yonkers, N. Y., a clerk in the office of L. V. Porter, comptroller of the New York Central railroad. Her slayer was tentatively identified as John McNeal, 52, a widower, of Yonkers, N. Y.

Police Captain Patrick Kenny, who took charge of the investigation, said fellow employees of Miss Wheeler's told him McNeal had argued with her in vain to marry him, and lately had become abusive that she was in fear of his life.

Scores of persons in the crowded Park Avenue office building which adjoins Grand Central Terminal heard the shots, but police could find only one man, W. DeSears, employed in Porter's office, who saw the shooting.

McNeal met Miss Wheeler today as she was going to work. Captain Kenny said he learned the two quarrelled bitterly as they rode up to the seventh floor in the elevator and were still arguing as Miss Wheeler started down the corridor to the office.

Suddenly she began to run. Captain Kenny said the man then drew a .32 calibre revolver and fired three shots. All of the bullets hit Miss Wheeler in the back, felling her at the entrance to her office.

McNeal then shot himself.

ACCIDENTS CONTINUE

Despite the efforts of the National Safety Council and other organizations, it is probable that accidents will cease when the last surviving man on earth has been killed—in an accident.

News reports tell of another man who didn't see the train as he reached the crossing, or of another who didn't see the approaching car as he stepped into the street reading a newspaper. Every fall there is a crop of reports about householders who start morning fires with gasoline, and of men who "warm up" their automobiles in closed garages. If all the literature published to warn people of the danger of accidents and to tell them how to prevent them were laid end to end, it would reach from here to the day of the last fatal accident.

Consider railroad crossings. Most of them are sufficiently visible, and in addition there are warning signs, bells or flashing lights. A report from the south says that at one railroad crossing graced with the usual sign and a flashing light there was a double accident. A long freight train was crossing the highway and a motorist came to a full stop, waiting for the cars to pass. Another approaching driver failed to see the crossing sign, the flashing lights, the passing train and the motionless automobile ahead of him, and struck the latter hard enough to drive it against the freight train.

What can safety organizations do to prevent a situation like that? An underpass was made at a "dangerous" crossing near Chicago, and we are informed that more people have been killed by the underpass than were killed by trains before the improvement was made. Cars simply are smashed against the abutments at high speed.

RECOGNITION AT LAST!

At long last, as Mr. Windsor would have said, the steam shovel watchers and pile driver gazers have been extended official recognition by the very men who might have been expected to ignore them or consider them nuisances. At Rockefeller Center in New York, where excavations are always under way, 100 feet of sidewalk has been roped off for the exclusive benefit of excavation watchers. The place has been roofed and labeled Sidewalk Superintendents' club. In Des Moines a contractor has erected a grandstand affording seats for the watchers.

While watching steam shovels hardly rates with football as a national sport, still it has an advantage in favor of the thrifty. We know of no instance in which admission fees have been charged. Perhaps we shouldn't have mentioned that.

After the excavation has been made the watchers immediately drift to another site. The construction men who put up the steel girders might think their job is thrilling to watch. Why does the fickle public go away? Why do they call them steam shovels anyway? Many of them are operated by gasoline engines or by electric motors. Who ever heard of a gasoline shovel, or an electric shovel?

RECORD OF THE PAST IS REASON FOR OPTIMISM

Unless all signs fail, America is taking a new climb out of the depression. Industrial production expanded in October for the fifth consecutive month, unemployment figures are dropping rapidly, and business sentiment as a whole is unusually optimistic.

No one knows, of course, how far and how fast this climb will be continued. We shan't be able to say goodbye to this depression until our business indices have reached the 1929 level; indeed, because our population is greater now than it was then, that level will have to be surpassed before we can truly say that nation-wide prosperity is here again.

Past experience may not be a perfect guide, in a world so changed as the world of today. Yet it is the only guide we have, and it has a rather encouraging message.

During the last half century, American business has been hit by five full-dress depressions—including the present one. After each of the other four, industry and trade climbed to a higher level than the one they had occupied before, and the general living standard of the American people went up with them. And the most encouraging thing is the fact that although each of these climbs took place during a period of technological improvement—which is supposed to mean a percentage decline in the number of jobs—the working population of the country actually increased faster than the total population.

This is made clear in figures contained in a bulletin just issued by the Central National Bank of Cleveland.

For example: from 1890 to 1930, the country's population increased 95 per cent—from 63,000,000 to 123,000,000. Yet the number of jobs increased by 113 per cent in the same period—from 23,000,000 in 1890 to 49,000,000 in 1930.

To look at it from a different angle: between 1890 and 1900, American business created 6,000,000 new jobs; between 1900 and 1910, it created 9,000,000 new jobs; between 1910 and 1920, it created 4,000,000 new jobs; between 1920 and 1930 it created 7,000,000 new jobs.

Where does that leave us? Well, the bank's bulletin goes on to remark, that our highest standard of living heretofore came when there were about 40 jobs for each 100 of the population. Our population today is 130,000,000; we need, therefore, approximately 52,000,000 jobs. Today about 45,000,000 people are regularly employed. There is, accordingly, a lag of some 7,000,000 jobs to be made up.

Past experience indicates that this is by no means an impossible hurdle. In the ordinary, normal course of business development we ought to get over it without strain. When you stop to think that our industrial and commercial plant is operating far below capacity, you can see that one or two years of continued expansion might do the trick very nicely.

There is every reason, then, to look forward to 1939 with the utmost confidence.

CITIZEN CORRIGAN

It may have been mentioned before, but it will do no harm to repeat. Douglas Corrigan has the makings of a great citizen, if he isn't already one. His movie career may be short, it must be added.

For he shows a magnificent independence of Hollywood froth coupled with amazing sense about a lot of things, including money. Corrigan had occasion recently to explain about his salary, simply that he is getting half of the $100,-

(Editor's Note—This is the second article in the special series on foreign affairs by Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen.)

Washington—Now that Japan has swept down the entire length of China in her drive to annex a new empire, a significant piece of hitherto untold history can be written.

Not many people know it, but just one year ago, the United States was close to taking action against Japan—action which might have told an entirely different story in the Orient.

This happened at the time of the Panay incident.

It is an interesting fact that the Navy had advance notice that some incident against American forces was about to take place. They did not know it was to be an attack on an American gunboat on the Yangtze, rather expected a wholesale attack on American Marines then guarding Shanghai under tense conditions.

Naval intelligence had received word through sources which cannot be revealed here that the Japanese military were planning a test of American public opinion and the policy of the Roosevelt administration, by deliberately attacking U. S. naval forces.

Since then, naval and diplomatic strategists also have come to the conclusion that Germany and Italy were in on the secret, may actually have had a hand in it.

Before that time, it will be remembered, the dictator countries considered American foreign policy a major question-mark. They knew they could count on Britain and France to talk much but do nothing. The United States, however, they could not gauge. Roosevelt had just come out at Chicago with a speech advocating joint action against aggressor nations, and there was fear on the part of the dictators that the unpredictable Mr. Roosevelt might mean business.

Navy Demands Action

Whatever its background, the deliberate bombing of the Panay by Japanese army aviators, plus the subsequent machine-gunning by Japanese naval craft, did not find the U. S. Navy entirely unprepared. For a week in advance, Admiral Leahy, Chief of Naval Operations, had worked feverishly night and day. So when the Panay incident occurred, the Navy was ready for action.

When the news broke, Leahy's first move was to go to the State department and report his preparedness to Cordell Hull. In Hull's office he found Assistant Secretary Hugh Wilson, now Ambassador to Germany, pacing the floor and urging that the United States tread softly.

"In two years China will swallow up Japan," he said. "We can't take any risks, Admiral."

U. S. British Blockade

What Admiral Leahy had prepared was a plan for a joint blockade of Japan by American and British forces—the British also having been attacked on the Yangtze. The general strategy had been approved by Hull and Roosevelt earlier in the year, when they contemplated putting the peace machinery of the Nine Power Pact into effect against Japan at the Brussels Conference.

Nubbin of the plan was the placing of British ships at Singapore, plus U. S. ships at Panama, plus the cooperation of Russia at Vladivostok. By stationing ships at these three focal points it was possible to isolate Japan completely.

Unlike Italy, which was able to beat the sanctions of the League of Nations, Japan is a series of islands isolated from the rest of the world by long distances. She must import her cotton, oil, copper, iron and other essential war materials. Furthermore, distances are so great in the Pacific that the Japanese fleet could not have steamed all the way to Hawaii or Panama to attack the U. S. fleet without being annihilated, nor could it have steamed even to Singapore without tremendous risk.

"No war game was ever simpler," Admiral Leahy reported to the president. "We place our fleet at Panama and Hawaii. The British place 24 ships at Singapore. The Russians have 50 submarines at Vladivostok. They send them down to harass Japanese lines of communication between Shanghai and Nagasaki."

"The Japanese army cannot live without supplies. Chiang Kai-shek is putting up an excellent fight.

Within three months at the most, probably even two, Japan will be broken economically.

"We tell the Japanese, 'We are going to blockade you until you get out of China.' I can guarantee that we will not lose more than two ships."

State Department Caution

Admiral Leahy's strategy carried weight with the president; also with the British. They actually sent word that 16 ships were ready to sail. But it did not carry with the State department. Public opinion would be critical, its officials argued. The United States should wait until newspaper sentiment crystallized in favor of more drastic action in the Far East.

"We must wait for the next incident," one high State department official told a confidential board of strategy.

"Do you think the Japanese are fools enough to give you another incident?" snapped one of the admirals.

The Japanese were not. They presented an apology which fell far short of Roosevelt's demand for a guarantee from the emperor. It was accepted, and in the eyes of Europe Japan came out victorious.

Odds Against U. S.

Japan needed no more incidents at that time, and today an incident would find the United States in a difficult position. For no longer can we blockade Japan. Today Japan is the conqueror of one of the richest nations in the world, has at her disposal untold raw materials. A blockade is effective only if access to essential supplies can be curtailed. Today Japan has those supplies.

Today, furthermore, the Chinese army is fighting with its back to the wall, could give little support to the United States. Today the British Empire is afraid of its own shadow when it comes to the dictators of Europe.

Today, finally, naval strategists admit that the American fleet would be up against great odds should it come anywhere near Japanese waters.

So historians of the future may chalk up the hesitation over the Panay as one of the most important milestones in Japan's conquest of China.

Note—Chinese cotton production in north China, despite war, more than doubled this year under the Japanese plan of making herself independent of American cotton.

In the files of the State department is an interesting story of how one Jew inadvertently upset a colonization plan to settle Jewish refugees in Costa Rica. It is important because it indicates how touchy Latin American countries are regarding Jewish colonization—and Latin America represents the chief undeveloped area open to emigration.

The Jewish Economic Committee in New York had purchased a banana plantation in Costa Rica. Once a thriving area, it was capable of supporting 1,000 Jewish refugees.

Negotiations were begun with the Costa Rican government, and after considerable persuasion, it agreed to permit the entry of the refugees, provided the refugees agreed to remain on their farms, not come to the cities to compete with local merchants.

Just as the plan was about completed, however, Leo Sack, former U. S. minister to Costa Rica, then in New York, wrote to friends in the Costa Rican capital regarding the colonization. Leo gave the impression that he was one of the chief instigators of the plan.

Immediately there was an outcry in Costa Rica. Sack, a newspaperman with an outstanding record in Washington, apparently had not been popular when he was minister to Costa Rica. Newspapers denounced the proposed colony as a Sack scheme to continue his influence over Costa Rica. They expressed the fervent wish that Leo confine his activities to New York. And they torpedoed the colonization scheme.

Old Story

Kathryn Lewis, daughter and secretary of John L. Lewis, will make an excellent delegate to the Pan-American Union congress at Lima, because she is a staunch advocate of cordial relations between the United States and South America.

However, her biggest concern just before leaving for Peru was quite aside from the international aspect of the mission on which she, Alf Landon and other delegates were embarking.

"I have absolutely nothing to wear," she exclaimed, as she departed hastily for New York on a shopping tour.

Buzzard's Roost

One reason a lot of voters last election turned sour on the New Deal, despite tremendous spending, is the inconsistency and laxness of administration in Washington.

Take, for instance, PWA's famous Buzzard's Roost power project in Greenwood county, S. C., which the Duke Power company fought for three years, until the Supreme Court overruled them.

Instead of promoting good-will for Roosevelt in South Carolina, the project has turned a lot of people against him. Here are the reasons:

1. Bare subsistence wages are paid. Truck drivers are getting $6 and $7 a week. Roosevelt has accused southern big business of depressing wage levels, but his administrators are permitting exactly the same thing. At the neighboring Santee-Cooper project, A. F. of L. protests finally increased wages, but not at Buzzard's Roost.

2. It now turns out that Dan Duncan, promoter and engineer for Buzzard's Roost, will be the chief beneficiary. Formerly an unemployed engineer, Duncan high-pressured the power project to the Greenwood County Finance Board; they applied for PWA funds. He makes 6 per cent of the total contract, or about $180,000. Meanwhile a lot of people in the county are wondering what they will do with the power.

3. Workers resent the fact that PWA is paying Greenwood officials federal cash, while their wages are low.

Local Officials

Various members of the Greenwood County Finance Board have received funds from the federal grant. These include E. L. Brooks, chairman of the board, paid last summer at the rate of $50 monthly; M. G. Bowles and W. M. Rogers, members of the board, paid the same; E. I. Davis, secretary of the board, paid $375 for June and July; Alice Steifle, board stenographer, paid $45 a month; R. C. Lomnick, county superintendent of schools, $50 a month.

What particularly gripes a lot of South Carolinians is that these payments apparently have been OK'd in Washington. Folks can't understand a system which under-pays labor, supposedly the friend of Roosevelt, and then rewards local officials with jobs of their own.

Note—When the Public Works administration was asked to investigate alleged Buzzard's Roost dirt, it sent as investigator Francis Belue, whose brother is book-keeper for the Lee Construction Company, builders of the projects power house. Investigator Belue white-washed the Roost.

Deutsche Botschaft

The German embassy is the only one in Washington that greets telephone callers in a foreign language. A gruff male voice barks "Deutsche Botschaft" (German embassy) and then repeats the words in English. The telephone number, District 4500, differs in only one digit from that of the U. S. State department, District 4510.

Congressional Chaff

Congressman Kleberg of Texas, who voted against the WPA appropriation and the new crop control act limiting payments to $10,000, received an AAA check last year for $112,140.04. His famed King ranch is twice as large as Rhode Island. . . . Representative Dawey Lewis, who failed to purge Senator Tydings of Maryland, will be made a Federal Communications Commissioner in that agency is revamped, otherwise he will go on the Bituminous Coal Commission. . . . Of all the new congressmen keep your eye on T. V. Smith of Chicago. A drawing, red-headed Texan who holds a professorship in the University of Chicago, Smith is slated to be a leading New Deal spokesman. . . . The vote teller in the House will have to master some tongue-twisters at the coming session. Among the members are Monkiewicz of Conn., Dworshak of Idaho, Maciejewski and Kocialkowski of Ill., Tenerowicz and Lesinski of Mich.

Poet's Corner

HE GIVES HIS BELOVED SLEEP

Do you falter, world-worn and weary.

At the close of the tiresome day, Does the world seem lone and dreary

Does the sun seem to shed no ray, Do the clouds seem dark above

And the path loom long and steep?

Remember the taller the shadows "He gives his blessed sleep."

Do the things that make life worth living

Vanish from us one by one?

Does life's twilight find us grieving

For kind things we might have done?

Be brave, and tho' sometimes life's trials

Seem heavy and hard and deep, Remember He who promised To "give His beloved sleep."

Just as he bore His cross alone You and I must bear ours too, But remember out of the darkness

His pity and love will shine through. ?

So remember out of this shadow Left-hand wall where Anne had lain at the long metal cot rack opposite the door where four or five dejected garments were still suspended and where I had seen Mrs. Flower hang her black velvet, violet-scented wrap upon our arrival after dinner. To my right the stairs went up to the balcony.

Beyond, on the right-hand wall, a swinging door led to the lavatory. I remembered the early days of my life when I had left in search of Adam. Crossing the room, I turned that key, too, then found a chair and sank into it.

Pointedly ignored by Mrs. Shaw had tied to a mirror and was making anxious dabs at her face. Elizabeth and Annie were soberly searching each other. Then Elizabeth was in front of me, looking apologetic and obviously waiting for me to rise.

"We may as well get this formality over with," she said. I stood while she poked and poked affidently at the blue silk pajamas. I twiddled my thumb, thinking about the mandarin coat. Neither Adam nor I had mentioned it, and she was too well bred ever to ask me where I had left it. But I could not face telling her yet.

Annie had advanced, terrible, on Mary Shaw and was giving her a goin'over that would have done credit to a Chicago policeman. I must admit that I would have liked to prod the stays of her Elizabethan dress—assure myself that nothing was concealed under them.

But Shaw had alibied himself and her.

We found nothing, of course. I took little part in the search, but I tried to keep everyone in view; and if there was any knife undiscovered in those two rooms it could have been no larger than a nail file.

It was afterward, when we sat down to wait, that I was aware that Mary Shaw and Lou Orpington were expected to give their presence. They did not succeed in being very obvious, for Elizabeth was beside me, and Mrs. Flower persisted in carrying on her aimless chatter. I listened, because I couldn't tell when I might pick up a scrap of information. But all the time I was conscious of the Shaw and the Orpington conversing in undertones and not quite seeing me when I glanced their way.

I wasn't particularly bothered by it at first, because by now they must all know that I was in Adam's confidence. At least to a certain extent. I wasn't sure myself just how much he had failed to tell me. That about the gun. . . . They were jealous, of course. But that realization did not weaken the effect on me of Lou Orpington's excited exclamations. Mary Shaw's air of cold dislike.

A woman is afraid of the members of her own sex when they turn against her. I sat there feeling chilly, thankful for the presence of Elizabeth. I thanked her that Adam had taken me under his wing. Had he expected this to happen?

I remembered suddenly what he had said hours ago on the veranda. "In time of trouble it's the Outsider who takes it on the chin."

Frozen Horror

I shivered involuntarily, realizing that these people were in a large, involuntary family, with feuds and counterfeuds within the group—and that, like any family, they preferred to lay crime at the door of someone to whom they were not related. Anything to keep the scandal out of the family.

Well, that protected Charlie at least. Or did it? Was I to be the Master Mind and his reluctant accomplice?

I was beginning to lose what sense of proportion I had left when Adam rattled the doorknob and called to us to come out.

In the lounge Barney was peering hopefully under chairs and Shaw was rifling the pages of magazines.

"That's enough," Adam told them. "It's not here, obviously."

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

A fascinating pastime with

Albert Edward Wiggam, S. Sc., Author of "THE MARKS OF A CLEAR MIND."

"The keenest anguish known to human nature is the pain of a new idea." (Bagehot). We hope this column brings you pain.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Yes. About the hardest work on earth is to be happy when idle. The human mind refuses to quit working while one is awake and, unless one is at work or engaged in active play, thoughts seem to turn inward and usually work on unhappy, depressing thoughts. Activity, partly bodily and partly mental, is almost a necessity if one wishes to be happy.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. On the whole I think the indifferent people who always expect others to give them good government, organize social welfare, clean the streets, secure good schools, prevent racketeering, build the churches, etc., are the worst scoundrels we have. They are so overbearingly smug in their rascality and pride their ornery carcasses on being "good" citizens. Oh, yes, they are always

"in favor" of all these good things—provided somebody else will sit up nights and risk his reputation—even his life—to bring them about. You can arrest a bad person but you can't put these indifferent social and political parasites in jail where they belong.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Savages, by all means. As Knight Dunlap, psychologist, brings out in his "Civilized Life," such things as prostitution and sex immorality generally are the products of civilization and grew up after man had gone prying far in developing civilized institutions, and so called "social order." Among many of the lowest savage tribes sex immorality is punished by death. An another student has shown that customs differing widely among savage tribes but violation of the established customs is a capital offense.

The Army Post Murders

By VIRGINIA HANSON

THE CHARACTERS

Katharine Cornish, myself, visiting Elizabeth on a mid-western Army post.

Elizabeth, Colonel Wright's daughter.

Adam Drew, acting commanding officer.

Yesterday: The sanitarium bills of Mr. Curtis were paid through a law firm. The murder gun belongs to Elizabeth.

Chapter 20

"I think you all know by now that another girl has been murdered."

Adam was standing by a round wicker table that was laden with mazerins, with ash trays, with empty coffee cups. The rest of us were distributed in chairs around the lounge, listening, waiting. I glanced from face to face, seeing fear, horror, hostility. Nowhere could I recognize guilt.

"We do not know who this girl is," Adam continued evenly. "We know that she called herself Ethel Curtis, which may or may not be her name. We know that she was ill—that she had recurring attacks of epilepsy. She had one tonight."

We know that she left a sanitarium in Illinois yesterday—that before she left she received a letter from someone on this post.

"Do any of you know such a girl, or know of her?"

I glanced feebly at a breathless, lengthening silence that weighed so heavy that it seemed to be anyone who knew must scream his knowledge, must somehow break the listening stillness.

I glanced feebly toward the balcony and again fearfully at the window beside me. Someone had closed the front door, and though the air was stifling there had been no dissenting voices.

Adam's pleasant, conversational tones resumed.

"Very well. We know that she was murdered just before or after the lights went out. Just a minute, please."

A babble of voices had interrupted him.

"I'll ask you for your alibis later. But first I want to settle something else. We know that she was stabbed by a long knife with perhaps a two-inch blade—and probably double edged. I want to find that knife, and I'm going to ask you all to submit to a search."

You women go into the search each other, then search the room and the lavatory. Stay there until I call you. You don't mind?"

He added with a winning air of asking their permission.

Mrs. Orpington stood up, regarded her brief Pierrette costume complacently and cackled.

"Anyone can search me that wants to. I've got nothing to hide."

"You have, you didn't bother to hide it tonight, did you, Lou?"

It was Mrs. Flower again.

They had almost forgotten how to laugh. The tentative experiment in mirth died guiltily. Silent the women filed into the dressing room.

I was the last. I shut the door and turned the key and stood for a moment looking at that room, at the chaise longue against the left-hand wall where Anne had lain at the long metal cot rack opposite the door where four or five dejected garments were still suspended and where I had seen Mrs. Flower hang her black velvet, violet-scented wrap upon our arrival after dinner. To my right the stairs went up to the balcony.

FANFARE

By DON DANIELSON

Joseph Procita, Gloversville (N. Y.) Italian, who will play an exhibition match here at John Valle's billiard parlors on Monday night at 8 o'clock, has to his credit a run of 168 points, which he made in a game at the Bradford club, Bradford, Pa., in 1937. Nor was that performance a mere "flash in the pan," for Joe has run 100 points or better more than a hundred times. Ervin Rudolph, who played at the local parlors about a month ago, attracted a crowd of 200 cue fans and Procita is expected to encourage even more for Monday's exhibition. There is no admission charge.

Attorney and Mrs. Gerald Jones and Miss Mary Bales left today for Chicago to enjoy an unusual outing. They boarded the Notre Dame special train at Chicago this afternoon as guests of the attorney's brother, Herbert Jones and wife, accompanying the Notre Dame football team to Los Angeles, Cal., for the University of Southern California football classic on Saturday, Dec. 3. Herbert Jones, son of Mrs. Celia Jones of this city, is one of the business managers of the Notre Dame football squad.

Roy Campbell of Princeton is among the players at Beloit college who show basketball promise and he has been mentioned as regular forward for the varsity. On Dec. 2 the Blue Devils open their season at Madison in a game with the University of Wisconsin.

The winner of the sports contest can be assured of a prize worth the effort. The contest—in case you haven't heard by now—is to select an All-American team and accompany it with a brief letter telling the reasons for the selections. All entries must be signed and must reach the sports department before 5 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon.

Coach Earl Drew of DeKalb high school is going to have his basketball team in ship-shape for the season's campaign. Each afternoon before practice he has his fellows bundle up good and they take a run out of doors for at least a mile or two before returning for indoor scrimmage. Dixon meets DeKalb for the first time on Jan. 20.

Harry Stuhldreher, director of athletics and football coach at the University of Wisconsin, has a full schedule of speaking tours beginning with his appearance at the Gryo club banquet here on Dec. 5. The local banquet will be in honor of the Dixon high school football team and its coach, C. B. Lindell, who ended the 1938 season as champions of the North Central conference. On Dec. 17 the Badger coach will conclude his tour with an engagement at Rockford honoring the 1938 Rockford high school grid squad.

Seventeen major and five minor football letters were awarded by Coach Wendell Schrader of Mt. Morris. The letters included: Harold Baker, Duane Claussen, Russell Corbett, Capt. Bob Dickson, Jim Coffman, Lawrence Eathing, John Graf, Don Linke, Eddie Miller, Russell Merriman, Gene Nunn, Kenneth Muller, Guerdon Reed, Warren Shoemaker, Donald Wynne, John Yoe, Manly Claussen. Minor letters were awarded to Tom Leonard, Wayne Ballard, Bob Kump, Bob Burke, and Earl Rosenbaum.

DON LASH SEEKS A CROSS COUNTRY RUN TITLE AGAIN

Puts Aside His Police Uniform for Spiked Racing Shoes

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 26—(AP)—Don Lash, who chases criminals for a living now, headed east today with the definite intention of again becoming the pursued instead of the pursuer.

He laid aside his gun and trim blue Indiana state policeman's uniform, packed his bag with the familiar spiked running shoes, shorts and racing shirt, and started for Newark, N. J., where Sunday he will try for his fifth consecutive national A. A. U. cross-country running title.

The race will be Don's first competition since he joined the state police force after winning recognition as America's best two-mile and cross-country runner while a student at Indiana university.

"In Finest Condition" He said he is in the finest condition of his career and his old coach, E. C. (Billy) Hayes, who keeps a watch over Don and still refers to him as "one of my men," said, "he looks to be in fine shape."

But Hayes sent along a young fellow who he believes may have a chance to break Lash's string of A. A. U. victories, Slender Tommy Beckard of Indiana will be another starter in the race.

"They ran 10,000 meters down here the other night and it was so close you wouldn't tell who won," Hayes said.

Mel Trutt, another Indiana university star, was kept home. Hayes said he didn't appear to be in the proper shape after two hard races within the last ten days.

The rivalry between Lash and Beckard is entirely friendly. Practice opportunities for Lash are few because he had to take his turn at state police duty.

Daily Workout Hayes said Don shows up about 7 o'clock in the morning for about 7 o'clock in the morning for about an hour's workout or else about 5 o'clock in the afternoon—after darkness has settled over the Indiana university track.

Lash still has his eyes turned toward the 1940 Olympics because he wants to beat Finland's runners in the 5,000 and 10,000 meter events. They left him way behind in the 1936 games.

"My goal is the 1940 Olympics," he said. "Win or lose, I'll hang up my shoes after the games a year from this summer."

If he makes the team Lash wants the U. S. Olympic committee to allow him to go to Europe early so he can put in a month studying criminology at Scotland Yard before going into four weeks of training with Finland's runners.

Football Season Fading Today

Armstrong Outpoints Garcia; Retains Title

ARMSTRONG WINS FROM FILIPINO IN BRUISING BATTLE

"Tough Little Guy" Is Super-Man in Fight Ring

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Nov. 26—(AP)—Henry Armstrong is not, of course, a real person. Historians will know that the little Negro was a legendary character, made up by some Orson Welles of the fight racket as a rival attraction to the man from Mars.

Come to think of it, they should have held on to one of those inter-planetary invaders long enough to get him in the same ring with Henry. It would be interesting to see if a genuine death-ray would have any real effect upon the tough little guy who holds the lightweight and welterweight titles.

Ceferina Garcia, whose "bolo" punch was supposed to strike men speechless, lifted Henry clear off his feet with several terrific belts in the Garden last night, but all it got the husky Filipino was a beating he will remember long after he has returned to the cane fields.

Armstrong Weighed Less Armstrong, who at 134 pounds looked like a wisp before his 146½ pound rival, practically knocked the daylight out of Garcia. He won nine of the 15 rounds by wide margins and lost only five, one of which was taken away from him by Referee Arthur Donovan because of a low blow.

Now that that's settled, there remains only one opponent in sight, and that is Lou Ambers, from whom Henry won the lightweight crown some months ago. They will go at it again at the Garden in February or March, probably for the welterweight title.

Almost 16,000 fans braved icy pavements to watch Henry turn back Garcia's challenge last night, and they probably got their $80,000 worth. It was a hard, bloody fight every minute of the way. The decision was unanimous, and even Garcia's dressing room protests that he deserved the duke were feeble.

Battle Bruises At that, he looked a little better than Armstrong today. Henry's left eye was closed tighter than a two-bit drum from a furious right that popped him just before the end of the 14th round. The Filipino was deeply gashed over both eyes and his hands were swollen. Armstrong's mouth was bruised and cut.

As he said he would, Armstrong closed in on the bigger fellow and made life miserable for him. The dusky David didn't have a slingshot handy, but he used everything else in the book, including his head, shoulders and elbows. His tactics drew scattered boos, but the general feeling seemed to be that he had conceded so much weight he had a right to employ a few extra weapons.

Henry Staggers Several times Garcia landed his swishing right uppercut squarely on Armstrong's jaw, and at least three times he staggered Henry and had him holding on. For an instant in the 12th it looked like the champion would go down. But each time Armstrong fought his way out of trouble and was pouring leather to Garcia before the round closed.

"He wasn't as strong as Ambers and not nearly so smart," said Henry, later. "He only hurt me once, really, and that was on a sneak punch when I thought the referee had broken us."

Oh, yes, Henry revealed that he had been suffering from a cold since Monday and didn't really feel like fighting last night.

Texas Christian is At Final Barrier

Dallas, Nov. 26—(AP)—On the threshold of its greatest football season, Texas Christian's undefeated steamroller reached the final barrier today—the cagey Southern Methodists, traditional foes.

Twenty four thousand fans jammed O'Connell Oval and almost as many were turned down.

Little David O'Brien, rushing for all-America recognition, was the key man of a giant machine that has whaled daylight out of its foes. He has thrown 18 touchdown passes.

Southern Methodist's defeats by Pittsburgh and Marquette spoiled hopes of an unsullied season, but their conference slate is clean with five triumphs.

Should the Methodists upset T. C. U. they would need only a win over crippled Rice Dec. 3 to clinch the conference flag. The Christians could wind up the argument by winning today.

Planning Corral for Trojan Horse

What else could Coach Elmer Layden, left, and Capt. Jim McGoldrick of Notre Dame be planning other than a corral for the Trojan warhorse of Southern California, which is all that stands between the Irish and their first unbeaten season and claim to the national championship since 1930? The teams drop the curtain on the football season in Los Angeles, Dec. 3.

BLAKBIRDS ON GRID

New York, Nov. 26—Results of a petition and ballot of the student body show that Long Island University will have a football team next season for the first time in the institution's history.

Byron Bows Down to Promising Franklin Grove Cage Quintet

Franklin Grove high school's basketball team, continuing its early-season promise of power, stepped out in the third period of the game with Byron on Thanksgiving Eve and trimmed the invaders on a 25 to 11 count. This adds to the black ink side of the ledger for John Mitchell's boys in the Route 72 conference.

In an opener, the lightweights defeated Byron's ponies with a score of 26 to 10.

In the first half of the main event neither team made any sensational scoring spurts although the half ended with Franklin Grove leading 8 to 4.

In the third frame the Grovers turned on the steam and sizzled the invaders to take the lead 19 to 6. In the final period the Byron cagers let loose enough power to work the score into two digits and the game ended 25 to 11.

Bucher, captain and forward of the Grovers, collected the scoring honors of the game with a total of 13 points. Of these, 12 were the result of successful field goals. For the visitors, Miller did the most belt-ringing with a total of five points.

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 26—An old-timer, Johnny Revolta of Evansville, Ind., and a newcomer to the pro ranks, 26-year-old Ben Hogan of White Plains, N. Y., were out in front today at the start of the second 18-hole round of the $5,000 Columbia-Ridge-wood open golf tournament.

Bettering par by four strokes, Revolta and Hogan turned in 67's for the first round yesterday to pace a field that included the best of the pros making the $100,000 winter circuit.

In third place after the first round was Ralph Williamson of Fort Wayne, Ind., with 68. Only a stroke behind him were Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., Jimmy Hines of Great Neck, L. I., Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., and Craig Wood of New York with 69's.

The 60 low scorers after today's 18 holes will enter tomorrow's 36-hole final round.

SEAL DRIVE FOR LOCAL FIGHT ON TUBERCULOSIS

Funds of County Organization Exhausted by Year's Activity

Letters appealing for aid in the fight against tuberculosis are now being sent to contributors by the Lee County Tuberculosis Association.

An extensive campaign has been conducted in Lee county during the past year and all available funds have been used. A special registered nurse was employed who carried the case-finding program into every school in every city and village of the county. Arrangements were made for tuberculosis testing of all children whose parents consented to the test. Subsequently, the tests were read and X-ray examinations were then recommended to the parents when necessary. In almost every instance the examination was made and the plates read and this without cost to the parents of the child. Competent and qualified physicians conducted the testing and their services were paid for out of Seal Sale money. Many cases of tuberculosis were discovered in this way which would otherwise have continued to endanger the lives of the affected as well as other members of the individual's family and his or her schoolmates.

This work is still going on and at the present time the pupils in the schools in Dixon are being examined. In most instances the teachers voluntarily request the examinations which are offered them without cost.

Work Must Continue

Everyone realizes this work must go on if active cases of tuberculosis in our schools are to be discovered. One active case in a school room may result in infection to all the persons whom the carrier contacts.

Edward A. Jones, chairman of the local committee, in commenting on the Seal Sale drive, stated that he hoped all parents would sign the consent cards which their children would obtain from Mrs. Fred Hoffman, the committee's nurse, and consent to the examination or tuberculosis test. This test is invariably made by the family doctor and is paid for with Seal Sale funds.

"In this county," Jones said, "there is no expense connected with the cure of tuberculosis. Our committee uses Seal Sale funds to discover active cases and when it has been determined that hospitalization is necessary the Lee County Sanitarium Board—composed of Dr. D. L. Murphy, George W. Smith and Dr. W. T. Holladay—provides for the same out of taxes collected for that purpose. Tuberculosis is preventable and curable and all we ask is the cooperation of parents in bringing about complete control of this dread disease."

Army-Navy Battle To Be Test of Coaching Policy

Philadelphia, Nov. 26—(AP)—Emerging from the pomp, pageantry and peanut shells that surround each Army-Navy football game was the very definite suspicion that today's 38th renewal of the service school rivalry was as much of a test of Navy's graduate-coaching policy as of its football team.

RELIEF WILL BE CONTROVERSY IN COMING CONGRESS

Numerous Proposals for Alterations in Set-up Forthcoming

Washington, Nov. 26—(AP)—A proposal that administration of relief be turned over to bi-partisan state boards came from a group of Democratic Senators today amid reports President Roosevelt may ask changes in present relief machinery.

Senator Burke (D-Neb.) said that Senator Bailey (D-N.C.) was drafting a bill to decentralize relief and that several Democratic Senators who have been critical of administration policies had agreed to support it.

Meantime, informed persons said numerous changes in WPA and allied programs were being discussed by Harry Hopkins, the relief administrator, and other administration officials.

They added that nothing definite has been decided, but that there was considerable likelihood some changes would be approved and recommended to the new Congress by the President.

As explained by Burke, the Bailey measure would establish bi-partisan relief commissions in each state to administer relief funds through bi-partisan boards in each county.

For "Tapering Off"
The states would be required to contribute toward relief costs and provision would be made for a gradual "tapering off" of Federal expenditures as the states became able to take care of their needy.

There already have been indications relief would be a subject of major controversy in the new Congress.

Senator McNary of Oregon, the Senate minority leader, said yesterday Republicans would concentrate efforts on turning the administration of relief back to the states and also would demand an investigation of reports of politics in WPA.

Burke said Democrats backing the Bailey measure would welcome Republican support, but added:

"This is a Democratic move, conceived by Democrats and sponsored by Democrats."

Those who disclosed the administration was considering relief set-up said the proposals under discussion included:

Administration Plans
Creation of an advisory board to aid the administrator in shaping relief policies.

Establishment of a coordinated relief organization on a permanent basis—perhaps within the framework of a regular government department.

Organization of a joint state-Federal program with sufficient flexibility to meet varying relief needs from year to year.

Allocation of relief jobs on the basis of ability to work as well as on the basis of need.

Reorganization of the Federal-state employment service to increase its efficiency in serving jobless who are not on relief rolls.

Application of the civil service system to the relief program.

Relief costs now make up nearly one-fourth of all Federal expenditures. Officials have predicted a downturn in these costs with better business condition.

However, President Roosevelt said at Warm Spring, Ga., yesterday the recent pick-up in business did not necessarily mean an immediate and proportionate decline in relief rolls.

Roosevelt said in most industries production has increased more rapidly than employment.

Child Bride and Her Father on Way Home
Los Angeles, Nov. 26—(AP)—Velma Robinson Greene, 14-year-old bride, and her father were en route to their Halliwell, Ill., home today, using train tickets furnished by Jones Greene, 60, whom the girl married in Kentucky two months ago.

Edgar Robinson, the girl's father, said he would start annulment proceedings after arriving home. Decision to annul the wedding was reached yesterday at an informal hearing before juvenile Referee Margaret Pratt.

The child-bride said Greene abused her and was intoxicated during their honeymoon. Said Velma:

"I don't want to see that old man—don't let him come to the station to see us off. I ain't never goin' to see him again!"

Greene was arrested in a downtown hotel recently for creating a disturbance. He pleaded guilty to charges of possessing a blackjack and is awaiting a probation hearing.

Indiana's High Court Prohibits Recount of Ballots in Nov. 8 Poll

Indianapolis, Nov. 26—(AP)—An order of the Indiana Supreme Court stopped 11 beaten Republican candidates for state offices today from getting a recount in seven counties of votes cast in the November 8 election.

The court handed down late yesterday a temporary writ of prohibition commanding Circuit Judges of Marion, Lake, Vanderburgh, Vigo, Clark, Franklin and Vermillion counties to halt proceedings in the candidates' recount suits until ordered otherwise. It scheduled a hearing December 1 on whether to make the order permanent.

Successful Democratic candidates petitioned for the writ. Democrats won all state offices except secretary of state, which went to James Tucker, Paoli Young Republican leader.

Tuesday, the court granted Senator Frederick Van Wyss, Indianapolis Democrat, a writ of prohibition to prevent a recount in the same counties of votes for senator. His Republican opponent, Raymond E. Willis of Angola, asked the recount.

Brain Twizzlers
By
PROF. J. D. FLINT

I'M ONLY FOLLOWING INSTRUCTIONS

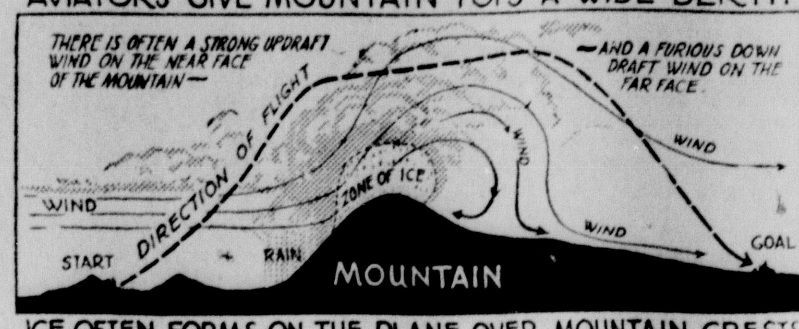

Now we get destructive. Let's take the number forty-five and tear it apart. Of course it's easy to tear it apart in your mind in some rough fashion but to do a very neat and orderly job of it is another thing. The best number-tearsers pay close attention to their work. Of course they go crazy before long but a little of it is relished by all. Try this: Divide forty-five into four parts so that if you add two to one part, subtract two from a second part, multiply a third part by two and divide the fourth part by two, the total of the addition, the remainder of the subtraction, the product of the multiplication and the quotient of the division are all equal. Some fun!

AMATORS GIVE MOUNTAIN TOPS A WIDE BERTH

ICE OFTEN FORMS ON THE PLANE OVER MOUNTAIN CRESTS

Ice on the wings!
Aviators are learning to stay a respectful distance away from towering clouds over mountain tops. Such clouds are dangerous. Many such clouds are made up of super-cooled water drops, or water chilled below 30 degrees, which freeze on contact with the wings of an airplane. When an airplane flies into a super-chilled cloud each drop that touches the ship instantly freezes to ice. Modern planes have no-ice and chemicals which keep the ice from forming on the propellers, but ice is always a serious hazard for airships and it can easily throw them out of control.

The air in clouds is turbulent, and this turbulence is increased over mountain tops. When a wind strikes a mountain it is deflected upward. As it rises it makes a very dangerous ice cloud over the top of the mountain. When an aviator finds that he must fly over a mountain top he goes as high as he can. Experience shows that the ice mist often extends down on the sides of the mountain, and a plane flying low may be so loaded with ice when it gets to the mountain top that it no longer has lift enough to get over. Then, too, the down drafts on the other side of the mountain are often fierce. An aviator who recently came into our office reported such a down draft over the mountains of California that he fell 4,000 feet with the plane, pulling against the waiting wind with all the power it had. He said that such falling winds are deadly to airships, because they smash squarely into the ground and never give a plane a chance to level off.

The mountains of the west are high and aviators have their most spectacular encounters with clouds and ice there. But the aviator who visited us said that the Appalachian Mountains, while much lower than the western peaks, are probably more dangerous. For one thing, he said, the air over them is much wetter and the ice will form more quickly. Then, too, in parts of the Appalachian region landing fields are difficult to approach in thick weather. Airway beacons, radio beacons and weather reports from ground stations have taken much of the danger out of air travel, but experienced fliers are still fearful of ice clouds, and the more experienced they become.

Jersey Cattle Breeders Will Meet in Dixon

A meeting of Jersey breeders in the following counties: Jo Daviess, Stephenson, Winnebago, Boone, McHenry, Lake, Carroll, Ogle, DeKalb, Kane, Cook, DuPage, Whiteside, Lee, Rock Island, Henry, Bureau, LaSalle, Kendall, Will, Grundy and Kankakee, has been scheduled for Monday, at 1 P. M. in the Circuit courtroom in the Lee county court house.

The purpose of this meeting is to organize a Parish District in the northern part of Illinois, and to learn what Jersey breeders of this section want incorporated in the program for 1939 which will be worked out by the Illinois Jersey Cattle club.

All Jersey breeders in the above counties are invited to attend the meeting, prepared to give suggestions and constructive criticism.

The meeting is sponsored by the Illinois Jersey Cattle club, and a representative of the American Jersey Cattle club, as well as a speaker from the University of Illinois, will be in attendance.

If sufficient interest is shown at this meeting a permanent Parish for this district will be organized, assuring representation at all state meetings, which would be of great benefit for 4-H club promotion as well as Jersey sales and other problems of importance to breeders.

Frank Brown, superintendent of Reynoldswood farm and vice president of the Illinois Jersey Cattle club, is temporarily in charge of this district until it is permanently organized.

Andrews Pledges "Reason" in Wage-Hour Crackdowns

Chicago, Nov. 26—(AP)—Elmer F. Andrews, wage-hour administrator, told a meeting of Illinois business men last night that unintentional violation of the fair labor standards act by honest employers would not bring government prosecution.

At the same time he predicted there would be "many improvements" in the act. He spoke before 1,600 employers at a dinner meeting of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association.

"We are going to be reasonable," he asserted. "For example, if a company makes an honest mistake in classifying executives who are exempt from the law, we shall take no action. But we had one firm with 20 employees which told us it had 17 vice presidents. That is the kind of company on which we are going to crack down."

"If employers bring unreasonable suits against honest employers, we will go to the defense of the employers in court."

The act, Andrews said, "is not in many ways perfect, but as in the case of automobiles, refrigerators and radios, the future should bring many improvements."

Andrews, now on a cross-country tour, said about 1,200 complaints had been received, thus far.

"About 25 per cent of these complaints were what might be called legitimate—that is, the businesses in which the complainants are employed appear to be covered by the law and the action reported appears to be a violation," he said.

Federal Reserve Banks Have $3,000,000,000 in Available Credits

Washington, Nov. 26—(AP)—The national banking system's potential credit pool has reached an all-time high.

The Federal reserve board reported yesterday that on November 23 member banks had $3,350,000,000 in excess reserves leaving that amount available for lending and investment.

Board experts said this excess could provide the basis for more than $25,000,000,000 worth of credit.

At the same time, the board announced that industrial production increased sharply in October and the first three weeks of November. The board estimated October production at 96 per cent of the 1923-25 average, compared with 90 in September, 76 at the recession low in May, and 102 in October of last year.

Unofficial estimates placed the probable November index at about 100.

Part of the increase in bank deposits has resulted from the ad-

PARKWAY ON WEST BANK OF FATHER OF WATERS DISCUSSED

Washington, Nov. 26—(AP)—National park service officials will discuss with representatives of 10 states at Memphis, Tenn., on December 5 the establishment of a parkway along the west bank of the Mississippi river from its source to its mouth.

As the result of the conference a bill may be presented to Congress in January providing for construction of the parkway.

A tentative bill drafted by the Interstate Planning Committee, sponsor of the project, has been under consideration in the interior department and the National Resources Committee. It will be returned soon to A. P. Greensfelder of St. Louis, Mo., head of the Interstate Planning Committee, with suggestions and recommendations and will receive consideration at the Memphis meeting.

States to be represented at the meeting are Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky, Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana.

The project, suggested several months ago by Missouri park authorities, still is in "very preliminary" stages of planning, National Park authorities said. No estimate has been made of the cost of the 2,000 miles of parkway stretching from Itasca state park in Minnesota to Chalmette National monument in Louisiana.

National park officials emphasized the project would be primarily a parkway rather than a roadway. It would be planned with an eye to recreational and conservation aspects as well as the preservation of historic sites.

"Wild life areas along the route would be expanded," a national park official said. "There would be camping areas, swimming places, boat landings, picnic places, bridge paths and foot trails."

"The region is outstanding historically and archeologically. Indians and early Spaniards used the Father of Waters as a highway hundreds of years ago."

"In the north there is rugged scenery. In the south there are picturesque bayous and plantations."

"There would be a road through it, but the project would be a parkway rather than a roadway."

WEEK-END PARLEYS ON CALENDAR FOR CHIEF EXECUTIVE

Warm Springs, Ga., Nov. 26—(AP)—After five days of roughing it in the rural hill country, President Roosevelt was confronted today with a series of weekend parleys on domestic and foreign affairs.

Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board, arrived last night and talked with the president during and after dinner on what Eccles described as the general policies of the reserve system. He will remain a guest at the Roosevelt Pine Mountain cottage during the week-end.

Tomorrow afternoon temporary White House officials looked for the arrival of Hugh R. Wilson, American ambassador to Berlin, for a thorough review of German-American relations following his initial report at the state department.

Banker on List
James H. Cromwell, New York banker-economist, was another caller on the president's list today. He would not state the purpose of his visit when he arrived last night.

Roosevelt braved a bitter cold afternoon yesterday to drive in an open car for his annual inspection of the New Deal's first resettlement project 25 miles away in Pine Mountain valley.

In an informal speech to the 1,100 settlers gathered in front of the four-year-old project's white schoolhouse, he noted the wide range of accomplishments of the rural cooperative, praised the courage and progress of its 250 families, and added:

"I hope you realize that what you people are doing is not merely for yourselves, but a lot of others throughout the country are profiting by the example you are setting."

Spanish Rebels Bombard Town at French Border

Perpignan, France (near the Spanish Frontier), Nov. 26—(AP)—Three Spanish insurgent warplanes dropped more than a dozen large bombs today on the Spanish government town of Puerto De La Silva, on Cape Creus, near the French border.

The insurgent gunboats, at the same time, shelled the coast of Catalonia from off Culers, apparently trying to hit the international railroad bridge linking France with Spain.

There were no reports of damage or casualties.

ESTATE DISTRIBUTED
San Diego, Calif.—(AP)—Superior Judge Arthur L. Mundo approved yesterday distribution of $1,350,000 from the estate of Miss Ellen Browning Scripps, philanthropist and member of the Scripps newspaper family. Bequests included a $50,000 trust fund for the upkeep of a part of Scripps park in Rushville, Ill.

The Australian government erected more than 6,000 miles of wire fencing in its efforts to control its rabbit population, but with little success.

SOLDIERS' HOME MAY BE ERECTED BY GOVERNMENT

Veterans Administration
Considered Locating
It in Illinois

Washington, Nov. 26—(AP)—Illinois congressmen said today the veterans administration had told them it might build a soldiers' home in addition to the new veterans' hospital which it intends to erect in downstate Illinois.

The soldiers' home would be adjacent to the hospital but operated as a separate institution, they said.

The Illinoisans said this information was given when they sought to ascertain the probable location of the hospital, a matter which the administration has not decided.

The administration's course has been to include domiciliary accommodations at its new "facilities," a term it uses to denote institutions containing offices for the administration of veterans' affairs, and quarters for veterans not requiring hospital care. Eleven of its present facilities are primarily

BIRTH-PLACE OF DEMOCRACY HAS FIRM DICTATOR

Average Citizen Still Holds to Traditions of Freedom

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer

Athens, Nov. 26—There stands amidst beautiful surroundings in the heart of Athens a structure so large and imposing that it immediately attracts the attention of the visitor.

"That used to be the house of parliament," a resident explained to me, "but since we got a dictator we don't have any need of a parliament, and so they use the building for government offices."

This matter-of-fact statement, made with refreshing naivete, pretty well sums up the political situation in Greece at this important moment when the Hitlerian drive for domination is sweeping the Balkans.

The land which gave birth to democracy back in days when the gods still controlled human affairs from the heights of Olympus has one of the tightest totalitarian governments in any of the small countries.

And the average citizen will tell you bluntly that he doesn't like regimentation. That is, he will say so if none of the secret police of minister of public safety mania-dakia are knocking about in the neighborhood with distended ears.

Traditions Cherished
The tradition of freedom of political speech goes back to hundreds of years before the Christian era, and, although it has been interrupted by conquerors, the Greek still cherishes the right to speak his mind.

The man who has imposed an authoritative government over his fellow citizens doesn't look at all the type you would expect to be holding down the lid of such a steaming kettle. General John Metaxas has the appearance of being a gentle soul.

Certainly one finds it hard to reconcile his delightful and friendly smile with the fact that a host of his political opponents, whose number is estimated at some three or four thousand, is languishing in exile on the small islands off the Greek coast.

Enemies Exiled
Metaxas rounded up all his enemies who were strong enough to do him harm and shipped them to the isles. Among them are many prominent men such as Colonel Stylianos Gonatas, famous soldier and republican leader, and ex-Premier George Kafandaris, one of the country's noted statesmen.

Metaxas, 67, was trained for the army and completed his studies at the Kriegsakademie in Berlin, a fact held to account to considerable degree for his strong liking for Germany and her culture.

Metaxas' career has been volcanic here chief of staff and then in political exile because of his political views. Finally in April of 1936, after King George's recall to the throne, we find the general made premier.

In August of that year the premier persuaded the king to dissolve parliament and rule by decree on the grounds that a Communist revolt was brewing.

SELF-IMPOSED CENSORSHIP
Washington — (AP)—The National Association of Broadcasters announced yesterday appointment of a committee to "recommend procedures leading to self-imposed regulation of American radio and the development of program standards for the broadcasting industry under NAB jurisdiction."

FLOATS FOR 400 MILES
Hampshire, Ill.—(AP)—To settle their argument as to how far a hydrogen-filled toy balloon would float Horace Pfingsten and Edward Schiesler turned one loose on the prairie breezes.

The balloon was found on the F. E. Butler farm near Peoria, O., some 400 miles away.

AGED PHYSICIAN DEAD
Canton, Ill.—(AP)—Dr. William T. Zeigler, 71, former Fulton county coroner, died yesterday in a hospital. He had practiced in the county for 41 years.

In size, the dinosaurs varied from the size of a rabbit to almost 100 feet in length.

The Glover method makes use of a large volume of live steam which is applied directly to the back of the fabric, causing all the pile to separate and stand evenly—just as it did when the garment was new, and renewing the deep velvet lustre and sheen. After the garment is thoroughly steamed and cleaned, with all spots carefully removed, it is placed on a drying machine where it is thoroughly dried in just a few seconds. Throughout both operations, the unusually strong air pressure holds the garment taut at all points, eliminating shrinkage.

W. M. A. OFFICER DEAD
Rock Island, Ill.—(AP)—David L. Hartman, 64, department chief in the home office of the Modern Woodmen of America, died yesterday.

Matches have to be damp-proof in the Panama Canal Zone. A special brand from Sweden is used there.

SEN. BARR NEARS NATIONAL RECORD FOR LONG SERVICE

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 26.—(AP)—The dean of the Illinois legislature is approaching a national record for continuous legislative service.

Richard J. Barr, Joliet Republican, will be starting his 37th year in the state Senate in January. When he completes the new four year term to which he was elected Nov. 8 he will have served 40 years. Friends who investigated said they found only two cases, one in Virginia and another in Colorado, in which a legislator had held office as long.

Skilled in senatorial debate and repartee, and long recognized as one of the Republican party's elder statesmen in Illinois, Barr has had all the honors in the legislative book. He has been chairman of the major committees and as a former president pro tempore of the upper House has been called upon at times to serve as acting governor.

Under Seven Governors
An attorney now 73 years old, Senator Barr was city attorney, then mayor of Joliet before he was sent in 1902 to the Senate where he found such stalwarts as Judge Lawrence B. Stringer of Lincoln, the late former Governor Len Small, Thomas Rees of Springfield, Martin B. Bailey of Danville, Dan Campbell of Chicago and Henry M. Dunlap of Champaign.

Since then he was continued in office under seven governors—Yates, Deneen, Dunne, Lowden, Small, Emmerson and Horner. The 22,886 vote majority he received for his tenth term this election was the largest of his career except in 1926 when he had no opposition. His district consists of Will and DuPage counties.

What Is ABC

And It's Advantages to It's Advertisers?

A. B. C. is the abbreviation for the Audit Bureau of Circulations, an organization set up and controlled by National Firms, who are large users of newspaper space. The object of the Bureau is to issue standardized statements of circulation of newspapers, to verify figures of publishers' records, and to ascertain that all circulation claims of member newspapers are correct.

The Bureau, also, breaks down circulation data for the benefit of advertisers and advertising agencies and publishers. Each audit report issued to newspaper members and advertisers includes figures and facts bearing on the quantity, quality, distribution of circulation and circulation methods. The figures and audit reports are those verified by Bureau auditors and are, unbiased facts, not mere opinions.

We know you, too, are interested in facts. That is why we urge you to inspect our recent A. B. C. Audit Report that tells you exactly why this newspaper can give you bigger, better advertising RESULTS. Why its effective, economical coverage represents FULL MEASURE for your Advertising Dollar.

Following is an Excerpt of a Letter Received November 12th from a Firm who Deals With the Country's Largest Advertisers and Space Buyers:

"You, and your entire Circulation Department can well be proud of your recent A. B. C. statement. It shows an increase of approximately 650 average Net Paid Subscribers, over the last government statement, appearing in Standard Rate and Data. It is almost unheard of for a newspaper to show an A. B. C. statement with an increase over the Government Circulation figures. Advertisers will appreciate the splendid showing you have made in increasing the circulation of the Evening Telegraph.

To my way of thinking, the Telegraph has done the outstanding circulation job of any smaller city daily newspaper in the Inland Territory. I firmly believe Editor and Publisher could get a lot of good material that would be helpful to other publishers on the methods you have employed in building up your circulation in the smaller cities of your retail trading zone."

* Trade publication subscribed to by practically all American daily newspapers.

This letter in its entirety is on file in our office and will be shown to any one who cares to check with the above quotations.

We Appreciate Your Co-operation

Certainly we are proud of our accepted membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations and, of course, it is very gratifying to enjoy this very substantial increase in circulation, but such achievement can only come about because of the whole-hearted co-operation of Dixon and its fine neighboring communities. Readers, writers, advertisers and carriers, in fact, everyone coming in contact with this newspaper have been of a tremendous help.

With this continued loyalty, we pledged ourselves to build a better newspaper for our friends and subscribers.
